

Anansi Catches the Storytelling Bug

Kids and Cultures presents their newest interactive storytelling show for families in Summer 2008.

Tales of legendary Anansi the Spider are told all over the world. Discover what happens when Storytelling Bug gets caught in Anansi's web. Will she become his lunch or can she spin a yarn fast enough to save her life?

During the show, attendees will learn basic storytelling skills, listen to and participate in folktales from different continents, and catch some interesting information about bugs.

Anansi Catches the Storytelling Bug is a 45-minute show performed by the Wenger Family of Kids and Cultures, a non-profit educational organization that introduces children to world cultures.
